- The Servant leadership approach used at CoolmineTC is in contrast to an authoritarian leadership style. It focuses on five key characteristics including community building, commitment to the growth of others, empathy, listening and awareness. The objective is to support staff/clients to realize their potential
- Krzistof Szadejko is a business consultant specialising in the analysis of organisational climate and well-being of people at the workplace, motivation and work-related stress. He uses the action research model, based on the qualitative-quantitative approach (mixed method), in the form of executive coaching, team building and team coaching.
